What is NetePay Middleware?

In order to provide our customers the flexibility of connecting to more direct processors currently not supported natively by Aldelo EDC, we've integrated with DataCap's NetePay Store Server in order to fulfill that goal.

NetePay Store Server is a middleware technology to be deployed at each restaurant stores' location. Aldelo EDC Data Cap Edition connects to NetePay Store Server for payment transaction processing against additional supported platforms.

How to Purchase NetePay Middleware?

DataCap NetePay Store Server is purchased from Authorized DataCap Reseller Only. The NetePay Store Server is licensed per specific back end processor that the customer chooses to use. In addition to NetePay Store Server license, customer will also need to have the Aldelo EDC DataCap Edition as well.

If you are a merchant, please contact your Aldelo Dealer to see purchase both the NetePay Store Server and Aldelo EDC DataCap Edition.

Is NetePay Vista and Server 2008 Compatible?

To our knowledge, the NetePay Store Server requires MSDE, which is not supported under Windows Vista OS. To find out for sure, please contact DataCap directly for assistance.

Who Will Install and Support NetePay?

Either the Dealer or DataCap provides both the installation and support of NetePay Store Server directly.

Aldelo EDC Installation Service

Aldelo EDC may be installed by your dealer or Aldelo Support Technician remotely via Livemeeting (Scheduling is Required). Installing Aldelo EDC by Aldelo Support Technician does not require support service contract, and is provided as a courtesy to Payment Processors. Please note that in order to receive support related assistances, including upgrade support, we do require support service contract at that point.

Additionally, Licensed Users of Aldelo For Restaurants may upgrade to the Latest Aldelo For Restaurants Point of Sale software (3.8 revision 10) free of charge, and is strongly recommended if using Aldelo EDC for payment processing.

If you have further questions, please contact Sales at 1-800-801-6036 (Monday – Friday 8 AM – 5 PM PST), or Support at 1-209-338-5481 (24/7)
